

Click to prove you're human

Pearson vue nclex scheduling

Domestic United States and Territories including America Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands and the U.S. Virgin Islands Canadian Provinces/Territories and the mainland United States United States and Territories including America Samoa, Guam, Northern Mariana Islands and the U.S. Virgin Islands International Test centers outside of the United States and Territories listed above Test centers outside of the Canadian Provinces/Territories and the mainland United States Test centers outside of the United States and Territories listed above * International locations where the NCLEX is offered include Australia, Brazil, France, Hong Kong, India, Israel, Japan, Kenya, Malaysia, Mexico, Pakistan, Philippines, Puerto Rico, South Africa, Spain, Taiwan, Türkiye and United Kingdom. More information regarding these international test centers can be found here. This website is scheduled to undergo routine maintenance on Saturday, 17 May 8:00 p.m. CDT - Sunday, 18 May 1:00 a.m. CDT. During this time, you may not be able to schedule, reschedule or cancel test appointments. We apologize for this inconvenience and thank you for your patience. Scheduled Maintenance NCLEX candidate registration site will be unavailable while Pearson VUE undergoes a scheduled system maintenance from 5:00pm (Central Time) on Saturday, May 17, 2025 through 3:00am (Central Time) on Sunday, May 18, 2025. We apologize for this inconvenience and thank you for your patience. January 30, 2025 The NCLEX is offered year-round, giving you the flexibility to choose a date that fits your preparation schedule. However, it's crucial to plan ahead to secure the best time for your exam. When Can You Take the NCLEX? The NCLEX is available throughout the year, but some months are busier than others. Peak testing seasons are spring (April-June) and early summer (July-August), as many nursing students graduate and aim to test during this time. How to Schedule Your Exam Once you receive your Authorization to Test (ATT), log in to your Pearson VUE account to schedule your exam. Here's what to keep in mind: Choose a date that allows for at least 4-6 weeks of preparation. Avoid last-minute scheduling to prevent unnecessary stress. If possible, select a morning slot when you're fresh and alert. Rescheduling Policies Life happens! If you need to reschedule, Pearson VUE allows changes up to 24 hours before your exam. Be sure to check their website for specific policies and fees. Prep Smarter, Not Harder Maximize your study time with the Mark Klimek Notes Bundle, which covers high-yield content in a concise, easy-to-digest format. Pair it with the Next Generation NCLEX Preparation Book for a winning combination. The world's premier examinations use innovation and superior psychometrics to measure what matters.See Exam Stats & Publications Candidates may not schedule their exam appointment until they have received an Authorization to Test (ATT). Waiting to call to schedule an exam appointment may significantly limit the selection of dates from which candidates can choose to schedule. Additionally, if candidates wait until their ATT is close to expiring, test centers may not be able to seat candidates prior to its expiration. If this occurs, candidates will be required to reregister and pay another exam fee. First-time test takers will be offered an appointment 30 days after the request to schedule an appointment. Repeat candidates will be offered an appointment starting 45 days after the last exam attempt. Candidates may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days. If their first-choice date or time is unavailable, candidates will be offered an alternative as close to their first choice as possible. Schedule Online Now Candidates may not schedule their exam appointment until they have received an Authorization to Test (ATT). Waiting to call to schedule an exam appointment may significantly limit the selection of dates from which candidates can choose to schedule. Additionally, if candidates wait until their ATT is close to expiring, test centers may not be able to seat candidates prior to its expiration. If this occurs, candidates will be required to reregister and pay another exam fee. First-time test takers will be offered an appointment 30 days after the request to schedule an appointment. Repeat candidates will be offered an appointment starting 45 days after the last exam attempt. Candidates may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days. If their first-choice date or time is unavailable, candidates will be offered an alternative as close to their first choice as possible. Schedule Online Now Getting ready for the National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX) can be a bit overwhelming, especially for those aiming to become registered nurses. That's why we've gathered all the essential information you need, from what you need to be eligible to the test schedule, locations, and fees. Plus, we've thrown in some practice questions to help you get ready. We understand the significance of this milestone in your career and are committed to providing you with the support and resources necessary for success. Soon enough, you'll be part of the global community of dedicated nurses! What is the NCLEX Exam and Why Does it Matter? The NCLEX is a pivotal, standardized test all aspiring nurses must pass to obtain state licensure to practice. It is nationally recognized as the benchmark for safety and competence. Passing demonstrates you have the essential nursing knowledge, critical thinking abilities, and clinical judgment skills to deliver safe, effective patient care. The rigor of the computerized exam ensures the public that new nurses meet high standards. It is developed by expert nurse panels and practitioners and updated regularly to reflect current best practices. Testing the key competencies for nursing work goes far beyond academic knowledge and evaluates how you'll apply skills in real clinical scenarios. Read More: NCLEX 2023 Update: Everything You Need to Know About the Next Generation NCLEX (NGN) Application and Registration Follow these steps to register: 1. To qualify, you need to apply to the nursing regulatory body (NRB) in the location where you want to be licensed or registered. 2. You can register through Pearson VUE online, where you'll need to include a program code and your email address during registration. All communication with Pearson VUE will happen through email. Learn how to use the Pearson VUE exam software by checking out the NCLEX Candidate Tutorial. Registration Fees Here are the costs* associated with the upcoming NCLEX you should expect: Registration Fee - 200 USD Additional International Scheduling Fee (+value added tax where applicable) - 150 USD Fee if you change NRB after registration - 50 USD Fee if you change exam type (RN/PN) after registration - 50 USD NRB Licensure/Registration fee - varies depending on NRB. Contact them for more information. *Excludes local taxes Payment Options Test takers have two payment methods. Online Payment You have the choice of any of these payment methods on the Pearson VUE website: Make a payment using a card. Use a VISA, Mastercard, American Express/AmEx credit, debit, or prepaid card. Other card issuers or payment networks are not accepted. Third-party payments. Payments from nursing schools or staffing partners for direct hires should be made using the same payment networks mentioned above. Payment Over the Phone Contact Pearson VUE NCLEX Candidate Services by phone. Have your valid VISA, Mastercard, or American Express credit, debit, or prepaid card ready to purchase your exam. Provide your name, card number, and expiration date as shown on the card. Note: The National Council of State Boards of Nursing (NCSBN) suggests you register, schedule, and buy your exam online, as the call center experiences a high volume of calls. Registration Time Limit After completing the NCLEX registration, you have 365 days to access and proceed with the following steps until the NRB confirms your eligibility. Afterward, ensure to take the test within the validity dates mentioned in your Authorization to Test (ATT) email. If you don't get approval or are denied eligibility by the NRB within the 365-day period, you'll lose your NCLEX registration and exam fee. In such a case, you must sign up again and pay a new exam fee after the current registration expires. You shouldn't simultaneously have two open NCLEX registrations for the same exam type. If you try to sign up again before your current registration ends, the second registration will be processed and denied, and the fee collected will be non-refundable. Options for Setting up a Schedule For first-time test-takers, an appointment will be provided within 30 days of the requested schedule. Repeat candidates will receive an appointment within 45 days. Online Scheduling Go to the Pearson VUE website Log in with the username and password you created during registration Choose your preferred date and time for testing at the desired test center Telephone Scheduling Contact Pearson VUE Candidate Services Provide your name, ATT number, and additional identity verification details. Indicate your preferred date and time for testing at the chosen test center. Scheduling at an International Test Center You can book an appointment for an international test center either online or by reaching out to Pearson VUE Candidate Services via phone. When scheduling, you will incur an extra, non-refundable fee along with any applicable value-added tax. Once you get your ATT, you're strongly advised to pick a schedule immediately. If you wait, you won't have as many dates to choose from. After scheduling, you'll get a Confirmation of Appointment email from Pearson VUE. Double-check all the details and review your appointment online. You'll get confirmation each time if you make any changes to your schedule. If you get notified of changes you didn't make, contact Pearson VUE NCLEX Candidate Services. Testing Locations The NCLEX is available in both local and global test centers. For US Licensure, local refers to test centers within the United States and its territories, such as American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the US Virgin Islands. Any testing centers outside these locations are considered international test centers. Opting for the exam at international test centers will incur an extra fee for international scheduling. Key Reminders If you haven't received confirmation for your NCLEX registration within two days of submitting it, contact NCLEX Candidate Services. Do not submit a new application before calling and stopping payment on the previous registration. You won't qualify for a refund if you don't reschedule or cancel your exam appointment within 24 business hours. Not showing up on the scheduled exam day will also make your registration ineligible for a refund. Exam Preparation Resources Review these resources before taking the upcoming NCLEX to ensure you're ready. NCLEX Information NCLEX Test Prep Test Day Preparations It's time to prepare for the exam day. Here's a guide to help you know what to anticipate on the test day. Exam Day Reminders Pay attention to the following on the day of the exam: Dress comfortably for the exam by leaving hats, scarves, gloves, and outerwear outside the testing room, although provisions are made for religious or cultural dress. Arrive early at the test center, aiming to arrive at least 30 minutes before your testing time. If you are more than 30 minutes late, you may need to forfeit your appointment, requiring you to reregister and pay another exam fee. Provide your biometrics, including a signature, photograph, and palm vein scan, for admission to the test. Upon arrival, you'll receive materials such as an on-screen calculator and an erasable note board or marker for making notes. Manage your time wisely during the exam; you have five hours to complete the NCLEX, including breaks. Take the time to analyze each question carefully. Once a response is submitted, you cannot return to that question. When you finish the test, there will be a short survey. Afterward, raise your hand and wait for the test administrator to dismiss you. Check-In Process On the day of your exam, you will adhere to the check-in procedure at all Pearson Professional Centers. Personal devices: Make sure to store your electronic devices, like cell/mobile/smart phones, tablets, or any other electronic gadgets, in the sealable plastic bag provided by Pearson VUE at the test center. If you refuse to use the plastic bag provided for your electronic devices during check-in, you won't be allowed to take the test. You'll need to reregister and pay another exam fee for any additional NCLEX appointments. Technical issues: In case of technical problems, your exam might need to be rescheduled. If you end up waiting for more than 30 minutes past the scheduled appointment time or if the restart delay lasts longer than 30 minutes, you can choose to keep waiting or reschedule the appointment without an additional fee. Visitors: Remember, friends, relatives, or children are not permitted to wait in the test center or contact you during the examination. Candidate statement: Once you're there, you'll need to read the Candidate Statement and provide an electronic signature, signifying your agreement to the terms and conditions of the NCLEX. ID Requirements You are required to present one form of acceptable identification at the test center. If you arrive without proper identification, you will be refused entry and will need to reregister and pay another exam fee. If you paid the additional international scheduling fee, that amount will also be forfeited. Acceptable IDs For domestic test center: Passport books and cards Driver's license Provincial, territorial or state identification card Permanent residence card Military identification card For international test center: Testing Room Policy Your test administrator (TA) will provide an erasable note board for you to use during the exam, and you can ask for a replacement if needed. You have five hours to finish the NCLEX, including an introductory screen, two optional breaks scheduled after the first two and 3.5 hours into the test, and any unscheduled breaks you might need. It's important to note that all breaks are counted as part of the testing time. During breaks, you must leave the testing room, and your TA will inspect any personal items you may need during those breaks. Before and after each break, you'll undergo a palm vein scan. If you wish, you can request earplugs. Remember, the test centers have no control over noises occurring during exams. At the end of the test, you'll be asked to complete a questionnaire about your NCLEX experience. Once you finish, raise your hand, and the TA will collect and inventory all your test equipment before dismissing you. After Taking the Exam You can take a short break once you've completed the exam. The official results will be accessible through your NRB and will be sent to you about six weeks after completing the NCLEX. Read More: Ready, Set, Succeed! How to Prepare for Your New Nursing Career in the US Retake Policy If you don't pass the NCLEX-RN, you'll receive a Candidate Performance Report (CPR). This two-page report provides a concise explanation of how Computerized Adaptive Testing (CAT) works, tells you how many questions you answered, and gives some tips on how to use this information. Usually, you can retake the exam after 45 days, and you can do this up to eight times a year, with each retake at 45-day intervals. However, checking with your NRB to confirm their specific policy regarding exam retakes is advisable. Read More: The NCLEX Study Plan That Works: Crafting Your Ideal Timeline TURN YOUR NURSING DREAMS INTO REALITY WITH PRS GLOBAL Whether you're preparing for the NCLEX or searching for rewarding opportunities, PRS Global is your gateway to success. We specialize in connecting global nurses with top-notch healthcare facilities in the US. Beyond that, we handle all the necessary paperwork and requirements, ensuring a hassle-free start to your new career. Your path to becoming a registered nurse starts here with us. Get in touch with us today to get started! Candidates may not schedule their exam appointment until they have received an Authorization to Test (ATT). Waiting to call to schedule an exam appointment may significantly limit the selection of dates from which candidates can choose to schedule. Additionally, if candidates wait until their ATT is close to expiring, test centers may not be able to seat candidates prior to its expiration. If this occurs, candidates will be required to reregister and pay another exam fee. First-time test takers will be offered an appointment 30 days after the request to schedule an appointment. Repeat candidates will be offered an appointment starting 45 days after the last exam attempt. Candidates may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days. If their first-choice date or time is unavailable, candidates will be offered an alternative as close to their first choice as possible. Schedule Online Now Candidates may not schedule their exam appointment until they have received an Authorization to Test (ATT). Waiting to call to schedule an exam appointment may significantly limit the selection of dates from which candidates can choose to schedule. Additionally, if candidates wait until their ATT is close to expiring, test centers may not be able to seat candidates prior to its expiration. If this occurs, candidates will be required to reregister and pay another exam fee. First-time test takers will be offered an appointment 30 days after the request to schedule an appointment. Repeat candidates will be offered an appointment starting 45 days after the last exam attempt. Candidates may decline the appointment offered and schedule later than the 30 or 45 days. If their first-choice date or time is unavailable, candidates will be offered an alternative as close to their first choice as possible. Schedule Online Now The National Council Licensure Examination (NCLEX) is a critical step for aspiring nurses in the United States. Whether you're preparing for the NCLEX-RN or NCLEX-PN, understanding the exam schedule, registration process, and how often the NCLEX is offered is essential for planning your nursing career. This article will provide a comprehensive guide to the NCLEX exam schedule, registration steps, and key details to help you navigate the process seamlessly. We'll also address common questions like How Often is the NCLEX Offered?, How to Schedule the NCLEX Exam, and Can I Change My NCLEX Exam Date? How Often is the NCLEX Offered? The NCLEX is offered year-round, meaning you can take the exam on almost any day of the year, depending on availability at your chosen testing center. Unlike traditional exams that are offered on specific dates, the NCLEX is administered through Pearson VUE, which operates testing centers globally. This flexibility allows candidates to choose a date and time that works best for them. However, it's important to note that while the exam is available daily, testing center availability may vary based on location and demand. Popular testing centers in major cities may have limited slots, so it's advisable to schedule your exam as early as possible. NCLEX Exam Schedule: Key Details To help you plan, here's a breakdown of the NCLEX exam schedule and related details: 1. NCLEX Exam Dates The NCLEX does not have fixed exam dates like traditional tests. Instead, you can choose your preferred date and time based on availability at your selected Pearson VUE testing center. Exam slots are typically available Monday through Saturday, excluding major holidays. 2. NCLEX Exam Dates 2025 If you're planning to take the NCLEX in 2025, you can start scheduling your exam as early as six months in advance. Pearson VUE releases slots on a rolling basis, so keep an eye on their website for updates. 3. Testing Center Availability Testing centers are located across the U.S. and internationally. You can search for the nearest center on the Pearson VUE website. Availability may vary by location, so it's recommended to check multiple centers if your preferred date isn't available. How to Schedule Your NCLEX Exam Scheduling your NCLEX exam is a straightforward process, but it requires careful attention to detail. Below is a step-by-step guide to help you through the process: Step 1: Apply for Licensure with Your State Board of Nursing Before you can schedule your NCLEX, you must apply for licensure with your state's Board of Nursing (BON). Each state has its own application process, fees, and requirements. Once your application is approved, you'll receive an Authorization to Test (ATT) from your state BON. Step 2: Register with Pearson VUE After receiving your ATT, visit the Pearson VUE website to register for the NCLEX. You'll need to create an account, pay the exam fee ($200 for both NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN), and provide your ATT number. Step 3: Schedule Your NCLEX Exam Log in to your Pearson VUE account and select your preferred testing center, date, and time. Confirm your appointment and receive a confirmation email with your exam details. Step 4: Prepare for Exam Day Arrive at the testing center at least 30 minutes before your scheduled time. Bring a valid government-issued photo ID and your ATT email. Can I Change My NCLEX Exam Date? Yes, you can change your NCLEX exam date if needed. Pearson VUE allows candidates to reschedule their exams, but there are specific rules and deadlines to follow: Rescheduling Rules: Rescheduling Deadline: You must reschedule your exam at least 24 hours before your scheduled appointment. Failure to do so will result in forfeiting your exam fee. Rescheduling Fees: There is no fee to reschedule if you do so within the allowed time frame. However, rescheduling after the deadline may incur additional charges. How to Reschedule: Log in to your Pearson VUE account. Select the option to reschedule your exam. Choose a new date and time based on availability. NCLEX Exam Schedule: Tips for Success Plan Ahead: Since the NCLEX is offered year-round, you have the flexibility to choose a date that aligns with your preparation timeline. However, popular testing centers may fill up quickly, so schedule early. Check Testing Center Availability: If your preferred center is fully booked, consider nearby locations or alternative dates. Prepare Thoroughly: Use the time between scheduling and your exam date to focus on your preparation. Utilize NCLEX review courses, practice exams, and study guides. Stay Updated: Keep an eye on your state BON and Pearson VUE for any updates or changes to the exam process. How to Schedule the NCLEX Exam After receiving your ATT, register with Pearson VUE, choose your testing centre, and select a date and time that works for you. Can I Change My NCLEX Exam Date Yes, you can reschedule your exam up to 24 hours before your appointment without incurring additional fees. What Happens If I Miss My NCLEX Exam Date If you miss your exam date without rescheduling, you'll need to reapply for licensure with your state BON and pay the exam fee again. Are There Specific NCLEX Exam Dates for 2025 No, the NCLEX does not have fixed dates. You can schedule your exam for any available date in 2025. NCLEX Exam Schedule Aspect Details Exam Availability Year-round, Monday through Saturday (excluding holidays) Scheduling Process Register with Pearson VUE after receiving the ATT Rescheduling Deadline At least 24 hours before the scheduled exam Rescheduling Fees Free if done within the deadline; additional charges may apply after Testing Centers Available globally; check Pearson VUE for locations and availability Exam Fees $200 for both NCLEX-RN and NCLEX-PN Final Comments The NCLEX is a pivotal step in your nursing career, and understanding the exam schedule and registration process is crucial for success. The exam is offered year-round, providing flexibility for candidates to choose a date and time that suits their needs. By following the steps outlined above, you can easily schedule your NCLEX exam, reschedule if necessary, and prepare effectively for test day. Remember to stay organized, plan, and utilize available resources to ensure a smooth experience. Whether you're taking the NCLEX in 2025 or sooner, this guide will help you navigate the process with confidence. Good luck on your journey to becoming a licensed nurse!